
Review of Day 13

Posted by Coolman!!! - 2008/06/20 08:44

Missed out on the preview yesterday as my PC was not working very well.

Well, it was an exciting match yesterday between Germany and Portugal with the Germans blasting through to the semis. The score was 3-2 but the match was pretty much dominated by the Germans.

Bastian Schweinsteiger was the star of the match and really did his part in taking apart the portugese. Well, maybe a rest did wake him up.

The punk was pretty much quiet for the portugese and his bigger 'contributions' are bemoanings to the referees. What a lousy piece of shit. And the latest news is that he still wants to leave Manure for Real. Certainly, the most DISLOYAL footballer ever.

Kudos to the Germans! Well done....

A bitter pill for Portugal and a high rated performance from German machines.

The funny thing is that coolman said the Punk of Portugal is a lousy piece of shit..hahahaha..

Maybe he moaned to the referees coz he can't show off his PUNK dribbling skills as Lehmann taught a few tricks to his team-mates how to stop him.

Well, whatever it is...the germans deserve to be in semi final..

Ronaldo is quite ordinary in this tournament. I think Simao or even Pepe played much better than him.

International defenders are much tougher than EPL ones. :P
