
The order of the post in a thread

Posted by lo2 - 2008/05/26 22:58

Well This concern which posts should be first and last in a thread.

I believe that the first post on the thread, the post that created the thread should be the one that is shown first and the latest posts should be last. And if there are so many posts that it cannot be on one page. The latest post should be on the latest page.

I know that I might not have made my point totally clear, but hope you understand it.

Well the fact is that on this forum it does not work like that, and that is source of great irritation to me. So could you please correct?

Hi Lo2, that is the way the forum is showing the posts now. The oldest on top and the latest below.

How are you seeing it?

Hi Lo2, click on "my profile", "forum settings". You can change how it appears for you.
