Hleb blasts Arsene Wenger and Cesc Fabregas

Arsenal midfielder Aliaksandr Hleb has joined in the recent spate of bridge burning by publicly criticising both Arsene Wenger and Cesc Fabregas.

It has been suggested that the Belarusian attacker is fed up with the hustle and bustle of life in London, while the player himself has admitted he is yet to fully adapt to the pace of English football.

However, the 27-year-old's main beef may in fact be with the fact Wenger has deployed him almost exclusively on the wings, despite the fact his preference is to play through the centre.

"My view of how I should be playing didn't coincide with the manager's," Hleb was quoted as saying Fabregas is the reason Hleb cannot get a game in the middle, as the Spanish playmaker has taken the Premier League by storm over the last few seasons since bursting onto the scene as a teenager.

But Hleb is not so enamoured with his team-mate as the rest of Europe is, insisting the EURO 2008 winner is greedy and goal-hungry.

"When we get scoring opportunities, Fabregas is much more selfish than me," said the ex-Stuttgart player, who has often been criticised for his minimal contribution on the score-sheet.

"Given a chance to shoot, he always goes for it — unlike me." I say " Just get the hell out of here"

Well, Twinkle toes cant shoot and cant Score! What he is talking about!?!?! He is dying to get out!?!?!

Wait! is this another one of THE SUN editorial? They misquoted Wenger so much,... will they misquote Hleb too?

Sigh.. how come there are so many disturbing stories of our players? how come nobody says anything on Rooney or Ronaldo leaving? Or Lampard?....

All these news is very irritating....

yeah, i could not believe it first on the sun paper but when i saw the news on tv, i just had to say Helb" you are about to be stoned down by Arsenal's loyal british fans" for making those pathetic remarks about your team-mate.

Fabregas is better than you and worth more than you but he is still staying to fight and believe in Arsenal.

"So Zip off your mouth" or I'll put my foot into yr mouth..

It was reported in Hleb website that he was mis-quoted. Hleb has rejected claims that he has fallen out with the Arsenal manager Arsène Wenger and his team-mate Cesc Fábregas. Reports had Hleb criticising Wenger's tactics and accusing Fábregas of being selfish, but it now appears some of the statements attributed to the player may have come from a misquoted interview he gave to a Belarussian website.

"In some newspapers it was mentioned that I have attacked Arsène Wenger and Cesc Fábregas," said Hleb on his personal website. "This is not true! I would never ever say something disrespectful about them. And there is a simple reason for this: Cesc is a very good friend of mine and Arsène is one of the persons I respect most."

The full sentence of what Hleb said is this, " Cesc and I understand each other very well on the field. It is very, very pleasurable for me to play with him. He's a very pleasant guy both in life and as a footballer. He is just more egoistic in goal-scoring opportunities, if he had a chance to score, he always used it, unlike me."

Well, so did he or did he not? :blink:

He DID mentioned that London doesn't suit his lifestyle and the current statement he said Arsenal is his home.He want to see himself in Barcelona next season on current statement too.

So,for me...just leave peacefully and no need to add any rubbish statements anymnore.It's sheer pointless.Say one thing now and change statement on next day!! nobody can trust this guy..

I just wish the non-commited players to leave.Hopefully, they stop bragging where they want to go and putting pointless statements today and then take it off the next day.

If these non-commited players do not open their mouth, then there's nothing to write from media.

Helb should be worth more than 15mil as i believe many clubs are interested in him.
we should get extra 3mil selling him.

The sun paper quote today"ALEX HLEB will be unveiled as a Barcelona player by the end of the week after agreeing personal terms with the Spanish giants.

The Belarus international, 27, will fly to the Catalan capital to undergo a medical before signing for the La Liga side.

Arsenal have finally conceded defeat in their bid to keep hold of the former Stuttgart playmaker and look set to receive £13million for their midfield ace. That fee could rise by £2.5million depending on Barcelona's success in the league and Champions League.

I just hope we can get more money selling him..(real gunner) ohhhh..another big selling, after Henry and Viera...

Barcelona will become stronger...

Why doesnt Wenger do a big signing for Arsenal???

Barca's mainly weapon are based on messi upfront to open up defences.henry has been largely used as a winger which frustrates him so much.

With Helb playin behind krkic should provide more attacking option for them.

Wenger signing big name?I have to patience to wait but will he wenger do that? I see he's going to do a splashing 12mil for nasri samir..and can samir click and adapt in EPL's brutality games every week?

All we need is more experience players to come in to tough up the team someone like Viera or Henry upfront and we badly need a big experience centre back that wenger still miss out!
