
Nasri deal Done...!!!

Posted by real gunner - 2008/06/23 21:04

Reuters UK report: Samir Nasri has signed a four year contract with Arsenal at 16.8 million euros, the France's midfielder web-site said on Monday.

"We inform you that Samir nasri wil no longer be an Olympique Marseille player next season and that he had signed a four year contract with London club Arsenal," said a statement published on www.samirnasri.fr Nasri, 20 has won 12 international caps and was a member of the french team which bowed out of euro 2008 after finishing bottom of their group with one point and one goal in 3 matches.
He made 2 appearances during the tournament, both as substitute.

Marseille star Samir Nasri claims he has sealed his move to Arsenal.

The playmaker has been discussing a move to Arsenal for around a month and Nasri has revealed on his personal website that the deal has been finalised.

Nasri underwent a medical in London last week, following France's elimination from Euro 2008, and discussed a transfer with his agent Jean-Pierre Bernes.

"We inform you that Samir won't be an Olympique de Marseille player next season and that he has signed a four-year contract with London club Arsenal," read a statement on his personal website.

Welcome Samir, and yes Little TT i hope Wanger heard you:)

16.8 Mil! no shit...

I thgt he is worth 10 Mil at most...

For 16.8 Mil, we could get the finalized product like Arshavin.

Well, a signing is a signing! SIGN more pls!

Go Wenger!

the shirt number isn't that important ,the important thing is that he will fit in with the squad and get used with the game...we`ll wait and see ...

it may be possible that Samir already signed for us...but the club told him to not post anything on his website just when they make it official....could be....

I hope he's sincere enough to give a final answer and not keep us waiting!!!

I think he is under some obligation to keep his signing a secret until certain date or event happened. It must be a done deal after all these while.

He's one of the bright players we want on our list.He needs to at least made a statement that he's interested to join us soon but making a statement on his website saying the deal is done and then pull off his statement there is UNPROFESSIONAL!!!
