
No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by real gunner - 2008/07/13 15:12

:laugh: :laugh: Emmanuel Adebayor will return to Arsenal training tomorrow and discover there's not been a single bid for him this summer.

While the 24 year-old Togo international has repeatedly declared his intent to quit the Gunners to join the likes of AC Milan or Barcelona, he now faces an embarrassing truth.

At the moment there are no takers for him.

He faces the prospect of starting next season in an Arsenal shirt and having to win over the Gunners fans who have been incensed by his lack of loyalty.

Adebayor has complained that he feels undervalued at the Emirates and demanded a pay rise.

The striker believed he could treble his current Arsenal wages by leaving and has told friends and team-mates that he would be moving on this summer.

Milan have branded a suggested £30million valuation on Adebayor as too expensive.

Instead, they plan to sign Ronaldinho from Barcelona and insist that investment will rule them out of any Adebayor deal. After making a tentative enquiry five weeks ago Barca have never come back with a concrete bid. Adebayor, who was the Gunners' top marksman with 30 goals last season, must hope Barca do return to spare his embarrassment. But with no takers there is the real prospect Adebayor will be at Arsenal next season.

:angry: well,Ade if you stay here and when we see you miss chances on scoring, we'll support you with bOOing...from the stand..This is what u get from lack of loyalty..

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by omnipotntscorpio91 - 2008/07/13 15:28

Thats what happens when people get some seriously big heads, he needed to be brought down a level. That must have been a sobering thought, people obviously dont think he is as valuable as he thinks is.

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by LittleTT - 2008/07/13 15:42

I worry...can he return to the pitch with solid morale??

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by real gunner - 2008/07/13 16:25

LittleTT wrote:

I worry...can he return to the pitch with solid morale??

Well, his agent is desperately seeking a way out for him...but until then he has another thing to prove..That he's as good as Henry when he compare himself to our king henry.I smell the nerves around Ade when he step his foot on the pitch.

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by real gunner - 2008/07/13 16:40

Eto'o And €10m For Adebayor:

Barcelona are preparing to make a sensational final bid for Emmanuel Adebayor and offer Samuel Eto'o plus €10m to finally conclude a deal for the striker, according to Sport.

Eto'o is valued at €30m by Barça and the additional €10m would mean that Arsenal's asking price for their goalscorer was met and they would have a replacement into the bargain.

While the club have until August 7 when they have to name their squad for the Champions League qualifiers, Barça are keen to wrap up their summer transfer activity sooner than that.

One last push for Ade to get out of Arsenal and the wrath of gunners.

=====

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by LittleTT - 2008/07/13 16:55

haha..Baca should be fool...

=====

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by Coolman!!! - 2008/07/13 18:17

it will be quite amazing for Barca to come in so late... but also very sensational if Ade stays after all the nonsense....

well, as i said before, i just all these issues are settled faster so that we can prepare properly for our next season push for the title!

=====

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by Horvat - 2008/07/13 18:33

This is good offer, Eto'o and 10m. We should accept this.:)

=====

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by real gunner - 2008/07/14 05:23

Yes..a very good offer.I just wish it can happen and I've a been a fan of Eto'o since he joined barca.

=====

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by tdejan - 2008/07/16 14:49

After all the saga around Ade I think that AW and Arsenal in general must make an effort and sell the guy !!!!

Staying in Arsenal will gave a negative influence on the team and fans:

- Tell me one fan which thinks good for Ade now?

- Ade stated he's not happy with the club. Do we need players which are not motivated to play at their best for Arsenal?

NO !!

- And of course, the relationship amongst the players. Ade will be marked as a traitor, and a bad joke!

=====

Re:No bids for Arsenal star Emmanuel Adebayor...

Posted by real gunner - 2008/07/17 17:16

tdejan wrote:

After all the saga around Ade I think that AW and Arsenal in general must make an effort and sell the guy !!!!

Staying in Arsenal will gave a negative influence on the team and fans:

-
- Tell me one fan which thinks good for Ade now?
 - Ade stated he's not happy with the club. Do we need players which are not motivated to play at their best for Arsenal?
NO !!
 - And of course, the relationship amongst the players. Ade will be marked as a traitor, and a bad joke!

Well,I heard he has no where to go yet...hehehe.I smell he's shying away from Arsenal's fans now.
Overrated player who missed dozens of scoring chances.Can't even dribble or shoot at the range of 20meters.He's lucky just to score in front of penalty box and taps in.Just lucky to score 30goals...

=====