
Down to the wire... Chelsea or Man U?

Posted by Coolman!!! - 2008/05/06 04:30

It is down to the last game of the season.
Two old foes, down to the last point, down to the last goal.....

Will chelsea beat a seasoned team of Wanderers (with a man u draw or loss) or Man U beat a revitalised Wigan to lift the title? Or will there be a sensational 20-0 win for chelsea courtesy of undertable pocket or sensational form?

This season has been real drama. The only thing i hate about this is we are NOT in there. Its sickening because we were there all along until March\April. A lack of experience and first team cover really cost us in the final stretch. Left a bitter taste in my mouth man....

We will be back. Bigger and Stronger. With or without some greedy midfielder. hahaha....

Go Gunners!

seems like chelsea is going for the CL title instead of the BPL. Joe cole, Frank lampard and Makelele were rested for the match against Newcastle.

Anyway, looking at things, its really Man U on goal difference.

i prefer Chelski to manure.
but i think manure will win the League and Chelski will win CL>

Man U wins.
Courtesy of Steve Bruce.

Chelski is disappointing with a 1-1 draw at home to Bolton.

Well, next season, We will be winners!
Go Gunners!
