

---

Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by Coolman!!! - 2008/04/23 14:52

---

Italian Serie A giants Juventus and AC Milan are both reportedly interested in signing Arsenal striker Emmanuel Adebayor, according to the Tolgo international's agent.

It seems a lot of our players are attracting attention. We have to keep the core together and bring in a few experienced and battle-harden players or else we have to wait another few years and another few years.

Time to catch up with the rest. No more 2nd place please.

---

Re:Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by Horvat - 2008/04/23 15:07

---

Sh*t!! again Italians want our players. We must keep all players!!

---

Re:Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by Fabregas - 2008/04/23 17:11

---

maybe we can try to sell Bendtner to the Italians and get back one or two italian defenders who are tough as tails to beat.

---

Re:Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by real gunner - 2008/05/05 12:22

---

speaking of ade..well he's not my favourite..but at least he's on score sheet..what we need is a real striker who can dribble,create,great pace and shoots well just like our legend..king henry..if wenger got the budget...look for Robinho..the trickery devil with pace..

---

Re:Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by drugo - 2008/05/20 17:45

---

i think Adebayor won't leave Arsenal, because today juventus is announcing Amauri; AC Milan wants to buy Didier Drogba

---

Re:Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by tearup - 2008/05/20 17:57

---

there are a lot of teams that whant Adebayor...every day different news...but i think he'll stay

---

Re:Juve and Milan are interested in Adebayor

Posted by Coolman!!! - 2008/05/21 04:28

---

yah. everyday different news.....
its getting irritating.

---

